WHIG NOMINATION.

FOR DELEGATE TO CONGRESS

JAMES COLLINS

OF IOWA COUNTY.

"Conservative democrats are only whigs in disguise, and the sooner they go where they belong the better."—[Madison Argus, Aug. 12]

It is consoling to the conservatives who fought under locofoco colors at the last Presidential election, having been assured by President Polk that they would not be disturbed in the office they held—that if they only pulled true in the contest of '44 they would be regarded as democrats "dyed in the wool." But it seems that the Argus is inclined to go further than the President. He is content with turning the conservatives out of office, but the Argus would read them out of the party. This we confess is but locofoco justice. If the conservatives, who, including ex-Governor Tallmadge, were so foolish as to place confidence in the pledges of the locofoco candidate for the Presidency, and for the sake of office, how the knee at the shrine of Locofocism, have, when it is too late, found they had been entrapped and deceived, it is no more than they ought to have expected. Independent of the conservatives, there is a hungry crowd of locos who must be fed; and it is not to be supposed for a moment that the veteran locofoco would give way to the upstart conservative who has served in the ranks only a few days. These conservatives are good locofocos; that is, they have the essential and material element of Locofocism—an insatiable thirst for the "spoils."

The Milwaukee Courier, in describing them as follows, has unconsciously given the characteristics of the locofoco leaders generally:

"It is true they are generally hang-on at our important gatherings, or large conventions—ambitious to figure either as president, secretary, or in some other capacity, trusting that the fame of their doings may reach Washington and swell their importance there with the 'powers that be.' In one point of view however, they are kind, most wonderful kind, for they are always generously willing to condescend to serve the dear people, provided always that the loaves are plenty, and the fishes are fat."

TERMINAL INJUSTICE TO RACINE.—The gallant colonel of the Racine Advocate has discovered that "systematic detraction" is resorted to in Racine; and as evidence of the fact, he says:

"A letter appeared in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, dated at Mackinac, 12th July, in which these sentences appear:—'After leaving Chicago, our passage up Lake Michigan was delightful. Our first stopping place was Southport, &c. &c.' The next place of note is Milwaukee, the great depot of Wisconsin, &c. &c."

"A stranger," he says, "would naturally conclude that there was no such place as Racine; and that two when Southport was deemed worthy of a puff! Racine not even noticed! Terrible injustice! 'Systematic detraction!' It is well however for Racine that she has such a gallant colonel to bring her into notice. He is about, he says, to write to the editors of the Public Ledger with a view of counteracting the misrepresentations of that paper's Mackinac correspondent—This colonel must be a great man! Don Quixote and all his battles with the wind mills are as nothing when compared with the colonel and his exploits."

GRAND OF THE WEST.—The second child born in Cincinnati still lives, and has not seen the middle of his life, while Cincinnati contains 80,000 inhabitants; the old pioneer who first settled where Cincinnati now stands, when the State of Ohio was a wilderness, now walks heavily and strong amid a throng of two millions; and the first child born of American parents west of the Allegheny mountains—who knew Washington as a surveyor on the banks of the Kenhawa, when the whole northwest, with immaterial exceptions, was in possession of the savages—is yet alive, and scarce numbers fourscore and ten; yet in her day she has witnessed the growth of an empire—the preloping of the mighty valley between the base of the Blue Ridge and the Rocky Mountains!

ANOTHER WHIG PAPER.—We have received the first number of the Janville Gazette, published at Janville by ALDEN & STROMAND. It is a neatly printed sheet, and, judging from the first number, will be conducted with ability—be an able advocate of Whig principles, and render essential service to the Whig cause. This and the Western Star, published at Elkhorn, the first No. of which has just been issued, adds two more to the Whig papers of the Territory. We give them a hearty welcome, and wish them success.

The Detroit Express of the 13th says, rumor was current in that city, that the U. States troops in Texas had met a body of Mexicans, and defeated them.

The Janville Gazette says, "We have assurance upon which we place great reliance, that since the nomination of Col. Collins a great change has taken place in Iowa and Grant counties, and in the western part of the Territory generally, in favor of the Whigs." We hope this is true; still the Whigs should not be lulled into security by report of any changes in their favor. They should labor and labor constantly—resort to all honorable measures to arouse every whig, and call out the full strength of the party at the September election. For that election will tell on the politics of the Territory for years to come.

MINISTER TO ENGLAND.—Mr. McLane's appointment to the post of Minister to England, yet sticks in the throats of a portion of the democracy. The Washington Journal, which eschews old hunkerism, says:—"We sincerely believe Mr. Everett to be a far better republican than Mr. McLane ever was or ever can be; he is infinitely his superior in talents and education; exercises far greater and happier influence at the Court of St. James than Mr. McLane can dream of attaining. He is his superior in all that constitutes a statesman or gentleman. It is a bad exchange, view it in whatever light we may."

A VALUABLE NEWSPAPER.—A passenger by the Cambria offered for sale on Thursday afternoon in New York, a copy of Willson & Smith's Times, of the 19th, for three hundred dollars, stating that, an honest person of the only other copy in the market had been sold for a similar price.

Books for Sale.—A correspondent of the London Letter Journal, asserts that he has recently written on paper made of iron, and seen a book the leaves and binding of which were of the same material. Such books would be sure to go down to posterity.

The Washington U. S. Journal, which claims to be the organ of the young democracy, thinks old Father Ritchie's organ, the Union, a weak concern; and quotes the following paragraph from the U. S. Gazette, in support of its opinion upon this point:

"The purity of the Union, its everlasting gossip about the people of the White House, and the Cubists, and its twaddle about the little attack made by a distant six by eight in the newspaper line, have given to itself, and partly to the administration a character at which the public eye curls rather in derision than in hate."

The trial of the persons charged with the murder of Jo Smith, has resulted in their acquittal. They were held in bonds of $10,000 to answer at a special term to be held immediately, for the murder of Hyrum, his brother.

The Paris correspondent of the "Courrier des Etats Unis" relates the following anecdote of a certain Russian Count de R—, who had been recalled to St. Petersburg, and being desirous to remain at Paris, made use of the following ingenious stratagem to accomplish his object.—If the Count returned to Russia, he knew that he would not be allowed again to quit it, (according to the laws of that highly favored country, which do not allow a subject to be absent from it more than two years under penalty of confiscation of property) without incurring the loss of the forty thousand livres of rent which he possessed there. The plan he adopted was this—he signed fictitious bills of exchange to the amount of 600,000 francs, and caused himself to be arrested for the debt. He was shut up at Clermont, and then began to breathe. It was not his fault if he remained in Paris, since he was under lock and key. No one suffered more than himself for his forced disobedience of the orders of his gracious sovereign. The duke of his own good faith and of his ignorance of commercial affairs, stripped of everything by unscrupulous speculators, he found himself in a prison in a country which he detested. All his vows were for that precious liberty which would allow him to return to his beloved father land. These eloquent complaints reach the Czar, who was touched by them, and authorized the sale of so much of the Count's property as would satisfy the debts. The affair was completed in the course of a couple of months. The Count received 600,000 francs, and willingly abandoned the small remains of his fortune. He is now established in Paris free and rich, and braves the cholera of the Czar.

From the N. Y. Sun we copy the following paragraph. It looks rather apocryphal, as no names or places of residence are given:—
"A DEPLORABLE OCCURRENCE at the country residence of one of our New York merchants, involving the happiness of three families, and probably the lives of two persons, has been rumored for some days. We have been able to collect but few authentic particulars. The merchant recently returned from Europe, and in visiting his country residence, his suspicions were aroused that a friend was base, and a wife unfaithful. Finding them together, he stabbed the guilty pair, and would have killed both instantly had he not fallen insensible at the moment of striking a second deadly blow at his wife. Both were seriously wounded, and the husband, gloating in the belief that he had killed both, is now a raving maniac. The wife, it is believed is not fatally wounded, but the recovery of her paramour, who is a merchant, is doubtful. Both were stabbed in the region of the heart."

A CASE OF CONSCIENCE.—An instance occurred on Saturday singularly illustrative of the power and force of conscience. A stranger walked into a store in Franklin street, and informed the proprietor that he owed him a sum of money, and desired to pay it. He stated that twelve years ago he had trusted him a bill, the nonpayment of which had constantly rested on his conscience, he requested his account and obstinately insisted that twelve years interest should be added thereto, which was accordingly done, paid and accepted. The individual stated that he had two motives in paying the bill—first, that, as a German he was determined that no act of his should reflect injuriously upon his countrymen. Second, that as a Catholic, he well knew that if he did not pay principal and interest in this world, he would have to pay principal and interest in the world to come.—Balt. Sun.

OLD BUT GOOD.—William the Fourth, late King of England, when Prince of Wales, and during his service off the coast of Canada, made an excursion into Upper Canada, and crossed over into Vermont. He entered a tailor's shop, and on seeing the tailor's son, an exceedingly beautiful woman, he without ceremony ravished a kiss from the lady, and remarked: "Therel now tell your country-women that the son of the King of England has kissed a Yankee tailor's wife." Unhappily for him, her husband, the tailor, at that moment appeared from the back room, and being a stout fellow, gave the scion of royalty a tremendous kick, exclaiming: "Therel now go and tell your country-women, that a Yankee tailor has kicked the son of the 'ing of England.'" The prince sloped.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—George Wescott, the Collector on the Schenectady and Saratoga Railroad, imprudently took a seat on the top of one of the cars, and was soon knocked off by a bridge and killed. The engine and tender of the train from Saratoga to Troy, were thrown off the track, by which accident the engineer had his arm, and a fireman his leg broken. Both accidents occurred on the 5th.

A cockney, discussing the merits of the different modes of public conveyance, was in favor of stage coaches—"Cause why—if you upset in a stage coach, vhy, there you are—but if you blow up in a steamboat, where are you?"

From the Army Atlas. HOI FOR OREGON!

Sons of the western border
Who seek the land of gold,
Who find the better life,
More fruitful than the soil,
The tide of life advances
Your wild retreats upon,
Your forest shadows vanish—
Ho! ho! for Oregon!

And ye who love adventures,
Who scorn a sluggish life,
Who seek unbounded freedom,
The chase, and forest strife—
Throughout the Union rally—
Our frontier livery don,
Then hot for hill and prairie—
Ho! ho! for Oregon!

A thousand strong we gather
By old Missouri's tide,
The orange-blossoms and the lemon,
Those nursed in wealth and pride;
There is a tie that binds them—
These thousand hearts in one—
It is the thrilling watchword—
Ho! ho! for Oregon!

Two thousand miles before us
The boundless prairie bloom,
Or wild unbroken forests
Wave in primæval gloom,
Bleak mountains, yawning chasms
Across the path, yet on
We'll bear the sturdy banner
To plant in Oregon!

Oh! these are not the spirits
To yield to a coward's hour,
Or yield their sacred bright
To any monarch's power;
As freemen they are gathered,
And when the goal is won,
As freemen they will hold it—
The glorious Oregon!

MISS "AMERICA VESPUCCI."—One of the editors of the Detroit Advertiser, writing from Ogdensburg, thus discourses relative to this personage:

Out of the business line, its most noticeable "lion" is the ex-countess America Vespucci, who has taken shelter from the ingratitude of Congress, under the wing of a Mr. —, a single gentleman of Ogdensburg. The residence of the soi-disant descendant of old America is a semi Italian villa, enclosed by convent walls. From the top of our hotel we could look down into its superbly arranged garden with pleasant arbors, and its oriel windows with gaudy colored, projecting sun curtains—giving a most indolent and Italian air to the mansion, and bearing testimony to the national habits and tastes of its mistress. The foot-passenger along the street, however, is excluded from a sight of anything but the upper story of the building, by a wall at least ten feet high. If Miss America is indeed, as she pretends, a descendant of the renowned Vespucci, she is playing a role that exhibits as little respect for her renowned ancestry, as for the many fashionable and distinguished people in this country who fringed and followed her, a few years since.

In addition to the foregoing, we find the following notice of the Vespucci family, who were visited by Mr. Lester, late Consul to Genoa. From this it would seem that the lady referred to is an old singer.

The Vespucci family are poor. Two daughters are engaged in teaching school, while the son, the only lineal male descendant, is employed in the Treasury department of the government, at a salary less than a hundred dollars. The Duke of Tuscany, however, supplies the wants of the family from his own pocket. Mr. L. was the first American that had ever called on the family, and they were deeply affected by the compliment, as they had been before mortified at the neglect of our countrymen. They are deeply chagrined at the conduct of their sister, who after having been the mistress of some dozen men had the impudence to ask our government for a grant of land to herself, as the only descendant of the Vespucci family."

THE FOOD OF MAN.—The Genesee Farmer gives this brief summary of the native countries of our most familiar plants:

"The potato is a native of South America, and is still found wild in Chili, Peru, and Montevideo. In its native state, the root is small and bitter. The first mention of it by European writers, is in 1558. It is now spread over the world. Wheat and rye originated in Tartary and Siberia, where they are still indigenous. The only country where the oat is found wild is in Abyssinia, and hence may be considered a native. Maize, or Indian corn, is a native of Mexico, and was unknown in Europe until after the discovery of Columbus. The bread fruit tree is a native of South Sea Islands, particularly Otcheteite. Tea is found a native nowhere except in China and Japan, from which countries the world is supplied. The cocoa nut is a native of most equinoctial countries, and is one of the most valuable trees, as food, clothing and shelter are afforded by it. Coffee is a native of Arabia Felix, but is now spread into both the East and West Indies. The first coffee is brought from Mocha, in Arabia, whence about fourteen millions are annually exported. St. Domingo furnishes from sixty to seventy millions of pounds yearly. All the varieties of the apple are derived from the crab apple, which is found native in most parts of the world.

The peach is derived from Persia, where it still grows in a native state, small, bitter, and with poisonous qualities. Tobacco is a native of Mexico and South America, and lately one species has been found in New Holland; Tobacco was first introduced into England from North Carolina, in 1586, by Walter Raleigh. Asparagus was brought from Asia; cabbage and lettuce from Holland; horse radish from China; rice from Ethiopia, onions and garlics are natives of various places in Asia and Africa. The sugar cane is a native of China, and from thence is derived the art of making sugar from it."

A cockney, discussing the merits of the different modes of public conveyance, was in favor of stage coaches—"Cause why—if you upset in a stage coach, vhy, there you are—but if you blow up in a steamboat, where are you?"

SAND'S SARRAPILLA.—The great value of suffering has been the object of philanthropists of every age of the world, to issue principles for treating diseases, powers but slowly for many thousand years, arising in the limited means of acquiring knowledge—but since the introduction of the printing press and steam engine it may be really be said, "Light has dawned upon the world," and the man of the nineteenth century possesses advantages which his fathers never did. In this general diffusion of knowledge, remedies have been sought after and discovered in the beautiful storehouse of the vegetable creation exactly calculated to combine with, neutralize and dispel the subtle poisons which diffuse itself throughout the general system and prostrates man in the dust. Sand's Sarrapilla, a purely vegetable preparation, has been thoroughly tested in a variety of diseases, and is from experience, known to be a safe and effective remedy for Scrophulous Enlargement of the Glands, Liver, Spleen, Scald Head, Eczema, Rheumatism, Palpitation of the Heart, and other diseases, originating in an impure or depraved state of the blood, or derangement of the digestive organs. Original manuscripts of various certificates, letters of the clergy, Magistrates and laymen, all confirming the previous statements, are constantly received, and will be cheerfully exhibited on application. Facts are recorded sufficiently clear and convincing to satisfy the most incredulous of the real merits of this invaluable medicine.

For her particulars and conclusive evidence of its superior value and efficacy, see pamphlets, which may be obtained of agents gratis. Prepared and sold wholesale and retail, by A. B. Sands & Co., Druggists and Chemists, 273 Broadway. For sale also by Milwaukee, Aug. 19. L. J. HIGBY.

H.; Bangor, Hallowell and Augusta, and other Ports in Maine; to New Bedford, Nantucket and Fall River, and Taunton in Mass.; to Newport, Providence and Pawtucket in R. I.; to Norwich, New London, Hartford, Middletown, New Haven, Bridgeport and Norwalk in Conn.; to New York city, Peekskill, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, on the Hudson River; and to all and every places on the Erie and Champlain Canals; and all places bordering on the Lakes Ontario, Erie, and the Upper Lakes; and on Lake Champlain, and to the Canadas. The Boston Packets arrive at and depart from my dock (time of sailing, Wednesday and Saturday of each week). The Agency of the Hartford Line of Steam Propellers is confided to me, and makes its trips once in ten days. The Philadelphia Line of Iron Steam Propellers come regularly to me, and sail on Tuesdays and Fridays, making trips in two days. Goods shipped to and from Troy to my care, or by me, will find their destination with the least practicable delay, and to insure entire certainty all Goods sent to my care should be carefully marked "Care W. M. T. Willard, Troy, N. Y." and Bills of Lading sent to me of same, which will insure safe delivery as owners and shippers wish. All Goods shipped to or from Troy, and all other cities, and transportation on the Canals, and have equal facilities of transportation as at Albany.

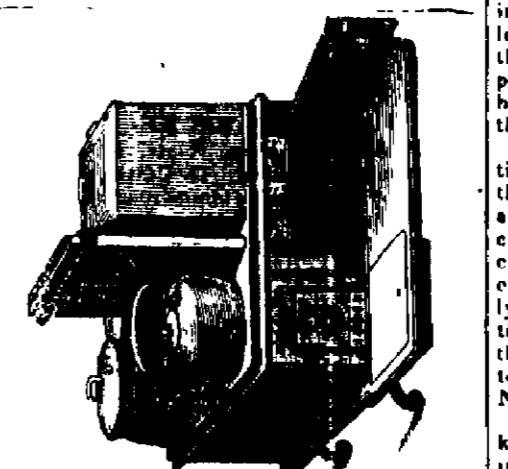

FLAX AGENCY.
I will pay Cash for any quantity of Flax and clean Tow, at my office, 245 River-street, Troy, and the highest price, according to the quality and character of the article. It should be evenly retted dressed carefully and clean, not end and all at the same end of the handful. Qualities constantly on hand, and as much as may be in separate handfuls, and if practicable, in bundles by themselves, closely tied at full length with three small and strong cords; thereby making a more merchantable article, and securing greatly better prices.

Flax may be sent to me, via Canals or Teams, and the money will be remitted as ordered, promptly on its examination and inspection, which is thorough and invariably to all.

DAGUERRETYPE UNION,
INSTITUTED by the most eminent Artists in the United States, for the dissemination of unskilled operators, and the diffusion of a refined taste for Daguerreotype Pictures.
The Art Union have taken the suit of rooms in AUSTIN'S BRICK BLOCK, 16 WATER STREET.

RENDEZVOUS, DEPOT, and DAGUERRETYPE MINIATURE GALLERY.

At the rooms of the Association, the most thorough instructions will be given in this divine art, upon the most liberal terms; and these INIMITABLE MINIATURES taken single and in groups of an excellence for which the celebrity of the operators, and the standing of the Art Union are guaranty, and at as low prices as charged by the indifferent operators hereabout, or in any respectable gallery at the East.
They invite, most respectfully, the attention of the public, and especially of Artists, to the work, style and finish of their Pictures, and particularly to the color, which they claim to have the honor of introducing in this city, and their pretensions to which, to the exclusion of all other claimants, they therefore submit to the decision of the professional artists, to all of which they are in the reputation of the Association, which is Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New Orleans.

The exquisite colored Photographs are taken equally well in clear and cloudy weather, in from 10 to 25 seconds—another feature they claim to have introduced here, and which obviates the frowning brow, intense stare, and a rigid outline, that results invariably from being required to keep a steady look and fixed expression for one, two and three minutes.

Rooms open and miniatures taken from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.
The Art Union will from time to time proceed to the adjacent towns to give instruction and take miniatures, landscapes, bouquets, views of all kinds, copies of portraits, &c. &c. taken at all times upon the most liberal terms.
Remember the Art Union Daguerreotype Rooms are No. 15, in Austin's Brick Block East Water street, or what would be better, examine the specimens of the different operators in the city, and patronize those who evince the most skill and taste.
